Swiss Government Revises Custom Duties - War Repeal Bill and "Bucket Shops."

ASHINGTON. April 7.—Senator Vork appeared today before the special House committee investigating charges in connection with the Danish West Indies negotiations. His statement was brief. He expressed astonialment at having seen his name in the Christmas report. He did not know Christmas, and never had seen him, as far as he was aware, although he met thousands of people, and could not say just who he had seen. Blut as to this Danish island question, he never had a discussion with anyone on the subject.

C. W. Knox of Gleneld, Md., whose name was mentioned in the Christmas report, told of meeting Christmas, whom he considered a cultivated man who had become entangled with sharpers. The witness said he consented to assist Christmas, and a contract was submitted to the committee, by the terms of which Knox was to assist in a proper manner in briffsing about the transfer. Knox to receive $15,000 in case of sale and $350 per month. As to a $5 transaction which had been referred to, Knox said he gave Christmas his check for $5, which was indoved by Hansen, and he produced the sheek. This was the only financial transaction in the entire affair. The witness said he never bribed anyone, and nothing of the kind was ever contemplated. He never received any money from Christmas.

In response to questions from members of the committee, Knox specifically denied that he had introduced Christmas to W. J. Bryan, of that he had claimed to Christmas that he was an intimate friend of Senator Hanna. Senator Bacon of Georgia told of two casual conversations with Christmas. As to the latter's statement that Bacon took great interest in the purchase of the Danish islands, the Senator de-

As to the latter's statement that Bacon took great interest in the purchase of the Danish islands, the Senator declared it was absolutely untrue, as he did not believe in the acquisition of the islands, and considered it unfor-tunate that the United States was in a position where it seemed necessary to take them.

through private and personal sources in Copenhagen, he had become aware that there was a disposition among some of the leading members of the Danish government to regard favorably an overture from the government of the United States looking to the acquisition of the Danish islands. He said that he had been a naval officer, and spoke at some length in regard to that there was no need for services of any private person in any negotiation against Denmark for commission, com-pensation or restitution of whatever nature which might be made by pri-vate parties for alleged services in connection with the concession of the islands in question to the United States."

A letter from Minister Brun stated that "Capt. Christmas had no author-ization whatever to enter into negotia-tions in the name of the Danish gov-ernment, nor to make any promises in the name of the government in connection therewith."

Mr. Brun also says he gave Capt.

Christmas no authority or introductions, but refused his requests in this connection.

thought that Mr. Hay should come before the committee, and should produce any letters he had in connection with Christmas going to Copenhagen.

Chairman Daizell stated that Secretary Hay was ready to appear at any time that his presence was desired.
The chairman rather emphatically dissented from Mr. Richardson's suggestion that, as the Secretary "had used" this man, there should be a more detailed explanation of any communications sent to him. No arrangements were made for Secretary Hay appearing, but it was understood that ments were made for Secretary Hay appearing, but it was understood that he would be heard later.

Seligman of the firm of Seligman & Co., bankers, told of Christmas asking the firm to take charge of money transferred in case of a cession of the islands. The firm wrote to the private banker at Copenhagen, sentioned by Christmas, and the answer from the institution was unsatisfactory, giving no confirmation of Christmas's authority. After that, Seligman said the firm dismissed the matter. When Cousins asked as to Christmas's statement that the Seligmans had guaranteed certain contracts, Seligman laughingly declared that such statements were made of whole cloth.

The committee adjourned on call of the chairman.

NEW BANKING BILL.

ISSUE FOR THE CAMPAIGN.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, April 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A bill favorably reported by Chairman Fowler from the Bank-ing and Currency Committee of the House, providing for elastic national bank currency and a number of other to take them.

Chairman Dalzell presented the following letter from Secretary Hay on the subject:

"To Hon. John Dalzell, chairman select committee, etci:

"Towler, Overstreet, Hill and other former, Overstreet, Hill and other formers, and the subject committee, etci:

"Towler, Overstreet, Hill and other formers, and formers of financial questions, to make eration in the House and they have the confidence that the House will pais the bill. It is claimed by Mr. Fow.er and others that the bill will have sufficient support in the House to go through that body. It is admitted that there are many the United States looking to the acquisition of the Danish islands. He said that he had been a naval officer, and spoke at some length in regard to that there was no need for services of any private person in any negotiation which might be taken up between the two governments in regard to the acquisition of the islands. I inclose a copy of a letter which I gave to the Danish Minister in Washington at the time of the signing of the recent treaty, and also a copy of a letter which I have received from the Danish Minister, Mr. Brun, dated the 31st of March, 1902. Very sincerely yours, [Signed] "JOHN HAX." In a letter to Minister Brun of Denmark, inclosed, Secretary Hay refers to the signing of the convention of cession and adds: "The government of the United States is in no manner under obligation to the good offices of private parties in reaching the agreement now happily brought about between the United States and Denmark, and cannot admit for its own part or support in any way any such claim against Denmark for commission, compensation or restitution of whatever nature which might be made by private parties in reaching the agreement which might be made by private parties in reaching the agreement which might be made by private parties in reaching the agreement of the United States and Denmark, and cannot admit for its own part or support in any way any such claim against Denmark for commission, compensation or restitution of whatever nature which might be made by private parties in the proposition of the House this session. By going the Senate at the provisions butted that there are many provisions to the measure, and that this is usually a source of weakness, inasmuch as it is difficult to get any way near solid support for a bill embracing so many features. This here-tofore has been the real weakness of many features. They included too many things, and thereby invited opposition. While one part of the bill might appeal to a Congress-man's favorable consideration, and the would receive his opposition, and this tion in the Senate at the next session. The trouble is that in the Senate more weighty questions are pressing for settlement, and a bill of the importance that is agreed upon by the House committee would be debated at great length in the Senate, and more time be spent than the Senate leaders now see their way clear to give.

Eagerly Snatch at Chance to Attack Army-Insist on Presentation of a Certain Report Without Waiting for the Answer to It.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS_A M. WASHINGTON, April 7.—The hear washington, April 7.—The hear-ings by the Senate Committee on the Philippines, on the situation in the Philippine archipelago were resumed today with Maj.-Geh. Arthur MacAr-thur on the stand, but before he had begun his testimony Senator Culber-son, one of the Democratic mambers of the committee, took occasion to call atson, one of the Democratic mambers of the committee, took occasion to call at-tention to the omission of the report of the Civil Governor of one of the Phil-ippine provinces from the record of Gov. Tat's testimony. This is the re-port referred to in the correspondence between Gen. Miles and Secretary Root, of which the Secretary said:

"The reference in the memorandum to the letter of Gov. Taft to the Secre-tary of War, dated February 2, 1901, transmitting for the purpose of an in transmitting for the purpose of an investigation by the military authorities, a report by the Civil Governor of the province of Tayabas containing in general terms and without specifications or names serious charges against the military administration in that province, and against the conduct of the army generally in its relations to Senator Culberson quoted this para-graph, and added that it was evident that this report had reflected on the military administration of the Philip-pines, and he moved that the chairman of the committee be requested to pro ure and present this report. He un od the report had been withhele or the purpose of procuring a state ment to be presented with it calculated ment to be presented with it calculated to parry it, but he thought the report should be presented now, and if there were countervailing testimony it could be received later. He took occasion to object to what he characterized as the effort of the Seretary of War to direct and control the proceedings of a com-mittee of the Senate. nittee of the Senate.

mittee of the Senate.
Senator Lodge replied that he had known nothing of the report that had been withheld until he had read the statement quoted, and he had then learned that it had been referred to Gen. Chaffee in order to secure his comments, upon it. Undoubtedly, he said, the Secretary had thought that charges against army officers i not be sent out without an explanation of each.

Senators Rawlins and Patterson in dorsed the position of Senator Culber-son. Mr. Rawlins said that if the investigation was to be more than a mere farce the report should be called for. He also stated that the Civil Governor of Tayabas had been a major in the or Tayabas and been a major in the United States Army, and he said the press dispatches indicated that he and other civil officers of the province had been placed under arrest last Friday, "doubtless," he added, "because of the character of the reports."

Mr. Carmack of Tennessee expressed the opinion that the Secretary of War had come into possession of informa-tion that did not suit his views, and is trying to suppress it until he can "cook up something to break the force of it." Senator Culberson changed his reso-lution so as to call directly upon the Secretary of War for the report, with a request to forward any information from Gen. Chaffee, and in this form the

Gen. MacArthur then began his statement, which, he said, would be a review of his observations in the islands, and of opinions he had formed. He said that after a complete study of the situation he had concluded that permanent American occupation of the islands was advisable. The general had not concluded hi statement when the committee ad-journed till 19:30 tomorrow morning.

Even Representative Hitt of Illinois, chairman of the Forcign Affairs Committee, objected to the vallor clause in the bill, but a majority of the House favored it, and it went through. This clause in the bill is certain to be taken out by the Senate, for that body has already voted against that legislation, an instance occurring when the Ship Subsidy Bill was before the Senate, only a few weeks ago.

the Senate, only a few weeks ago.

But today's work was a pretty slick victory for California members of the House, who had been fighting for the most rigid pozsible exclusion during the entire session, and who, in the House bill, got absolutely everything they want. In the fight upon the floor of the House today, every member from California was on hand every moment, except McLachlan, who was busy elsewhere a good deal of the time. As on previous days, Mr. Kahn led all the fighting that was done. While this victory was proceeding in the House, there were different doings on the Senate side of the Capitol, where Senator Cullom, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, stated in an interview his man of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, stated in an interview his views, bitterly attacking some features of the exclusion bill.

Mr. Cullom asserted that the bill violates all treaties with China, and should not be passed. Such a plain assertion from the head of the committee which has charge of the treaties for the Senate is considered a severe blow for the bill, and its probable effect was much discussed at the Capitol. Mr. Cullom said the proposed, bill would not only violate the treaty now in force, but would be even more a violation of the treaty superseded by the present convention, and which, he stated, will be in force again when the present convention expires by limitation in 1994.

Mr. Cullom said that the excepted vention expires by limitation in 1904.

Mr. Cuilom said that the excepted classes under the present bill, students and merchants, are so hedged around with restrictions that practically no Chinamen will be able to avail themselves of the exception. He expressed himself as favorable to the plan proposed by Senator Platt of Connecticut, which is that the Geary law be renacted, so continue in force until 1904, when the present treaty with China expires. He said that meanwhile the State Department should make every effort to secure a new treaty, allowing as much restriction of Chinese immi-utterly unjust. Bucket shops, he de-clared, were gambling establishments of the worst character, and he consid-ered the proposition to remove the tax upon bucket shops as bad legislation. Mr. Aldrich explained that the contention of those who insisted upon the removal of the bucket-shop tax was that the effect of the Senate provision would be to remove the tax upon transactions in big exchanges and to tax the transactions of small brok. ers. This, he maintained, would be in the nature of discrimination.

Mr. Spooner said he was in favor of the retention of the tax on bucket shops, which he considered a most insidious and destructive form of gambling. The tax was, in his opinion, wholesome and well justified, but when he was informed by the Senate conferees that the House was irrevocably opposed to the retention of the tax, he was not willing to jeopardize the bill, which generally reduced taxes by insisting on his views. The conference report was finally agreed to, by 36 to 20.

He said that he expected to vote for the bill, but was reluctant to do so, especially because the cotton manufacturers of his State and of the South generally were appealing against its enactment. They fear, he said, that it will lead to retaliatory action on the part of China, and that their market in the Orient might be checked, if not destroyed.

Mr. Simmons explained that he did not agree with the cotton manufacturers, and therefore, as the people of the Pacific Coast and other sections were demanding the passage of the bill, he would vote for it. The bill was

He Sends a Characteristic Message to Carnegie-Clerical Crank Disturbs Dinner Given by Authors.

NEW YORK, April 7.- [Exclusive Dispatch.] Andrew Carnegie was the guest of honor tonight at a dinner given by the Society of American Authors at the Hotel St. Denis. A clerical crank, or at least a very peculiar-minded man in clerical garb, was liar-minded man in clerical garb, was the cause of a disturbance. Carnegie had just taken his seat, after a short after-dinner speech, when the man arose, and said he wanted to offer Mr. Carnegie, "the great philanthropist," an invention. Carnegie's recent defini-tion of a "philanthropist" is "a man with more money than brains," and he instantly resented the remark.

ST. PAUL. April 7.—Most of the towns and cities of North Dakota held municipal elections today. The most notable result was in the mayoralty contest at Fargo, where Mayor J. A. Johnson (Rep..) who is serving his fourth term, was defeated by W. D. Sweet, who ran as the business men's candidate. Mayor Johnson's defeat is attributed to division in his party ranks, and to the vote received by the Social Democratic candidate, which was exceptionally large. Mayor Johnson is well known throughout the country, having been president of the Lengue of American Municipalities.

COLONIZATION MOVEMENT. REAL-ESTATE MEN IN LINE.

the the New Associated Press.—P.M.; SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—A new industrial association, designed to work for the development of Northern and Central California, in conjunction with Central California, in conjunction with the other bodies now entering upon that campaign, was organized as a result of a convention of real-estate agents held in the Chamber of Commerce today. It is to be called the California Real Estate Board, and it hopes to include in its membership all who are engaged in the business in the territory that it is proposed to open up to homeseekers.

The declared purposes of the board are to cooperate with the railroads and civic organizations in encouraging the development and progress of Northern and Central California; to systematize the interchange of business on legitimate lines; to facilitate the distribution of truthful literature and information as to the proper adaptation of different districts to the various products; to discourage the distribution of different districts to the various products; to discourage the distribution of any part of California, and to promote candor and good fellowship among the real-estate dealers.

C. M. Wooster presided, and David Bushe acted as sparenary. A letter was received from Frank Miller, president of D. O. Mills Bank of Bacramento, urging that all property owners in California desiring to part with their holdings, in either large or small lots, send a descriptive circular to the new Promotion Committee of the State Board of Trade, and that all lands for sale be cross-indexed for the convenience of possible purchasers. The idea was indorsed.

It was resolved to establish a perma-of possible purchasers. The idea was indorsed. It was resolved to establish a permament organization and the following executive board was chosen:

From the Sacramento Valley—C. F. Foster of Corning: George W. Harney of Sacramento. From the San Joaquin Valley—M. D. Eaton of Stockton; F. M. Chittenden of Fresno, and J. A. Wishon of Visalia. From the Coast countles—O. L. Houts of Santa Rosa; C. M. Wooster of Santa Clara, and R. P. Quinn of Watsonville. At large—David Bush of San Francisco, and J. C. Carley of Sacramento.

To this committee full power to act for the new organization was delegated.

TACOMA, April 7.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Burgiar C. D. Emory, who was last week sentenced to ten years in Walla Walla Penitentiary, has been recognized as the son of Ex-Gov. Lowe of Iowa. His home is in Keckuk, Iowa. Lowe spent severa? years at Ames College, and later, about 1874, graduated from Oberlin, and has been leading a criminal life ever since.

Former Chief of Police Hoge recalls having had Lowe in jail in Tacoma four years ago, and at that time recognized him as his old school mate at Ames. At that time Lowe confessed that after leaving college he had gone to China as a captain's cierk. There he lost his position, and finally worked his way back to his wife, who is now confined in an insane asylum. He said he had served two terms in San Quentin, during one of which he had, through political influence, obtained the position of warden's cierk, receiving $125 per month.

WASHINGTON. April 7.—Atty.-Gen. Stratton of the State of Washington today brought to the attention of the United States Supreme Court the desire of that State to bring suit to prevent the merger of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern railroads, by moving for leave to file a bill of compaint on behalf of the State against the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern Railroad companies and the Northern Securities Company. In making the motion, Stratton asid counsel for the defendants was present and prepared to proceed with an oral argument if the court was prepared to hear them, adding that the case involved the same questions as were presented in the Minnesota case. He added that an immediate hearing was desired, because it would save another trip from the State of Washington.

GENERAL ORDER WANTED.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.1

WASHINGTON, April 7.—In connection with his motion for leave to file his bill of complaint, Stratton submitted copies of his bill and a brief in its support. To avoid the objection under which this court refused to enter the bill of the State of Minnesota against the Northern Securities Company, the State of Washington has made the Great Northern Company and the Northern Pacific Company, defendants.

made the Great Northern Company and the Northern Pacific Company, defendants.

The bill asks for a general order of restraint and injunction, and in a general recital of the acts of merger which it is claimed are in contravention of the laws of the State of Washington, prohibiting the consolidation of competing lines of railroad. It is charged specifically that the Northern Securities Company was organized solely for the purpose of carrying out and accepting the designs, agreement and plans of James J. Hill and J. P. Morgan and their associate stockholders to effect a consolidation of the property, railway lines, corporate powers and franchises of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern Securities Company.

This combination is characterized as a "conspiracy," and it is asserted that the interests of the individual stockholders in the property and franchise of the two railway companies was toterminate and to be converted into an interest in the property and franchise of the Northern Securities Company.

The individual stockholders were no longer to hold an interest, or draw their dividends from the earnings of each of said railway companies, but rather from the earnings of both systems, collected and distributed by such holding corporation; that the defendant, the Northern Securities Company, is not only exercising the right of ownership of such stock, but also dictating port was adopted without dipont was panying brief, the legal reasons in sup-port of the action are set out in detail. Among these is the plea that unless the Supreme Court as-sumes jurisdiction, the State of Wash-ington is without a forum, to which the controversy may be presented." The brief, referring to the former asse brought by the State of Minne-sota, says:

ase brought by the State of Minnetota, says:
"Under the authority of the recent fecision of this court in the State of Minnesota vs. the Northern Securities Company, it is clear that the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railroad

Pacific and Great Northern Railroad companies are necessary parties dedefendant, not only in this, but any other court having equitable jurisdiction in an action brought by the State of Washington against the Northern Securities Company.

"This rule bars the State of Washington from maintaining such an action in the courts of New Jersey for the reason that said companies are not within the State for the purpose of giving the court jurisdiction over them."

of giving the court jurisdiction over them.

"An action against the Northern Securities Company will not lie in the State of Washington, for the reason that the courts are powerless to obtain jurisdiction over its person. Careful inquiry has been made, and it has been found that the State of New York is the only State in the Union in which each of said parties defendant has defined an agent upon whom process may be served, and it is clear that such an action against the defendants (all being non-residents of the State of New York) cannot be maintained therein, under section 1780 of the New York Code of Civil Procedure."

of the New York Code of Civil Procedure."

Two briefs were filed in opposition to the prayer of the complainant, one of these being by George B. Young. M. D. Grover and G. W. Bunn, and the other by former Atty.-Gen. John W. Griggs Mr. Griggs takes the position the bill of complaint does not present a case of controversy of a civil nature, which, under the Constitution and laws of the United States, is justifiable in this court; that it is a suit to enforce the local law and policy of a State, whose right to make laws and enforce them exists only within itself, and by means of its own agencies, and is limited to its own territory, and, that "whatever the law of the State of Washington is upon the subject of the consolidation of railrond corporations, it is a municipal or police law, and not one conferring rights of a proprietary or contractual nature."

He contends that 'neither the courts of the United States nor of any other turisdiction outside the State of Wash.

rights of a proprietary or contractual nature.

He contends that 'neither the courts of the United States nor of any other jurisdiction outside the State of Washington will lend their aid to the enforcement of the police laws of Washington. He points out that none of the acts complained of is alleged to have been done within the jurisdiction of the State of Washington, and says:

"Every specific thing charged in the bill of complaint as having been done by the Northern Securities Company and its stockholders, and by the stockholders of the two railway companies was in the exercise of a usual universally-conceded right in and over personal property—the right to buy, sell, hold and vote stock, and to pay and receive dividends thereon. The suggested injury that is feared is admitted to spring from the fact that one person, or a number of persons who are of one purpose, hold a majority or controlling interest in the stock of two competing lines of railway—a thing not forbidden by the laws of Washington, or any other State, It is certainly an astonishing proposition that Washington has a right to complain that a foreign corporation has acquired a majority of the capital stock of two railway companies, one a Wisconsin corporation and the other a Minnesota company, merely because the railroad companies operate railroade in Washington.

Mr. Grigga also makes the assertion ington."

Mr. Griggs also makes the assertion "that as a matter of fact, none of defendants have combined or made any contract for any of the purposes charged."
Quoting the laws of Washington contract for any of the purposes charged."

Quoting the laws of Washington bearing on this point, he says: "Nothing in any of these ecctions forbids one person, whether a natural person or a corporation, from acquiring a majority of the stock in two competing rafiroad companies. The prohibition is placed upon the companies thermselves. It is their acts done for the purpose of consolidation and combination which are regulated not the acts of the individual stockholders in selling their stock, or transferring it to one person or a syndicate of persons for the purpose of control."

members on the subject of Cuban call for a conference of Democratic members on the subject of Cuban reciprocity at 3 o'clock tomorrow night. The call followed a petition, signed by more than twenty-five Democratic members, requesting the conference.

The move caused some agitation on both sides of the chamber, in connection with the opening of the debate on the Cuban bill tomorrow, as it was thought to introduce a new element of doubt, as to the final vote on that measure. The movement for a conference was understood to have been initiated by those opposed to the bill, with a view to concentrating the minority in opposition. It was conceded by the supporters of the Payne bill that a combination between the mirrority and the Republicans who oppose reciprocity would make the final issue doubtful.

In 1886 the Denver Power and Irrigation Company filed on land in Platte Canon for a reservoir site, 160 feet high, and backing up the water for six or eight miles. The Colorado and Southern then laid claim to a right of way over the land in question by virtue of a deed from the railroad companies, which had made filings and began to lay rails in the cañon. Suit was brought by the irrigation company to condemn the land wanted. The District Court decided against it, but the Supreme Court reversed this judgment and remands the case.

In his opinion, Justice Gabbert holds that a railroad company cannot hold lands, even if it has laid rails, unless

TRIAL OF KRITZINGER ENDS IN ACQUITTAL

CHARGES MADE AGAINST BOER LEADER NOT ESTABLISHED.

Kitchener Cables That the Commandant is Being Well Treated as an Ordinary Prisoner of War-British Report on Boer Casualties.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M. IBY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
LONDON. April 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, says Commandant Kritzinger, who was captured by Gen. French at Hanover Road, Cape Colony, December 17 lact, and who has been tried by court-martial on the charge of having committed four murders, in addition to train wrecking, and cruelty to prisoners, has been acquitted, and is being well treated as an ordinary prisoner of war.

BOER CASUALITIES. BOER CASUALTIES.

IBY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.1 LONDON, April 7.—Lord Kitchener reports that the Boer casualties during the engagement of March 11 and April reports that the Boer casualities during the engagement of March 11 and April 1 were at the lowest estimate thirty men killed and eighty wounded.

Commandant Brasmus was killed near Boschoff, Orange River Colony, April 3.

PEACE NOT IN SIGHT.

CREDULITY OF THE BOERS THE HAGUE, April 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is little faith among Boer sympathisers here that peace is imminent in South Africa. The creduimminent in South Africa. The credulity of the burghers in South Africa is matched by the assumption of agents here that deliverance is coming from England's foreign complications. Boer advocates are asserting that England is fatally embarrassed by the alliance with Japan, and will certainly be drawn into a war of tremendous magnitude in the Far East. They are consequently justifying the indefinite continuance of guerrilla warfare, and forecasting the ultimate triumph of the cause of independence, when British troops cannot be appared from the larger theater of European operation.

The Dutch who were once the mos astute neutrals in the world, are nov astute neutrals in the world, are now the most aggressive partisans. Kuyper's government has been committed from the outset to active support of the Boer cause, but the bolt was shot when the Prime Minister vaguely suggested the expediency of granting Boer agents a safe conduct in South Africa. Nobody supposes he had a diplomatic errand to Berlin.

diplomatic errand to Berlin.
There are the strongest reasons for believing that Kruger and his associates have not been in direct communication for a long time with the burghers fighting in the field. Kruger himself is old, enfeebled and worn and takes little interest in the negotiations now in progress. Associates control the action of the broken old man except in money matters. He retains a strong grip upon that which remains in the war chest.

MORE CHEERFUL IN LONDON, 18Y DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.1 LONDON, April 7.—[Exclusive Dis-patch.] Balfour's guarded reply in patch.] Balfour's guarded reply in the House of Commons this evening to Morley's demand for information on the subject of South African peace ne-gotiations, raised the hopes of a good many people. The Stock Exchange, which for the last week had been dult and depressed, owing to the lack of definite news, became quite cheerful and buoyant when Balfour's answer was known in the city. Rumor mon-gers immediately began to improve the gers immediately began to improve the situation, and it was soon noised about that Steyn was giving way on the in-dependence question, and that the Cabinet would meet tomorrow after-noon to consider an important message from Kitchener relating to the nego-tiations.

He had been censured for this act of worldliness, but as it was his only weakness and as he was eminently fitted to fill a deaconship his brethren went ahead and took chances. It might be just possible, argued the majority, that a man could fiddle and not bring the church into disrepute. But at the same time he was expected to play nothing but the most solemn airs and play them softly.

The first move on the part of Satan was to induce the new "pillar" to stop and gaze at some circus bills posted on a barn. A brother deacon caught him redhanded, and lectured him for an groaned the deacons in chorus, and one of them asked:

"But you also called out the figures to be danced, didn't you?"

"Mebbe I did. When the music got to go in. I felt that I had to mix in. Durin' my sinful days I used to go to every dance within ten miles."

"There can be no doubt, brethren," said the same deacon, "that it was sinful music and that there was dancing, but we must not be too impetuous. Deacon Hopkins, will you let us hear the strains of the music given last inight?"

The deacon called his daughter down and got out his fiddle. While he was tuning up three of Minnie's girl friends arrived, and were ushered into the room. When the music was ready, the derelict said:

"I will show you as nigh as I can remember just how it was. Deacon Jones, you stand here with my wife. You others stand up with these girls. Now you are all ready. Saiute your your partners! Ladies to the right—gents to the left! All salute! Promenade haif way round—half way home!
All balance and swing your partners!"

The deacons had stood up reluctantly. They had hung back at the first call. It was only for a minute, however. A warm wave swept them froin head to heels and back, and they went through the figures with a vim that left them out of breath at the end.

"That's the way it was," said Deacon Hastings, as the music stopptd, "only there was more of it."

"How much more?" asked one of the brethren, with a sigh.

"Two hours, mebbe."

The deacons retired to the kitchen for a consultation, and when they had got there they looked into each other's faces and queried:

"Well?"

When they had returned to the parlor, Deacon Jones, speaking for the rest, said:

A few days ago The Times comarticle. The Times did not make the statement attributed to it. What we that half a dozen members of the Senate, belonging to the Steering did say was this:

"Unfortunately, those of us who do not believe in doing the ostrich act have been forced to the conviction that this kind of prohibition does not prohibit, but simply drives the traffic into other and less desirable channels into other and less desirable channels, where its operations are not open to the public gaze, or subject to official control. For instance, in Pasadena, and Pomona, and Riverside, and Redlands, and at several other cities and towns of Southern California, there are no saloons, yet it is a well-known fact that a very large amount of liquor is consumed at those places, and that many young men are there started on their way to the devil. The same is true of every so-called prohibition city and State in the country."

In common with a great majority of unprejudiced investigators, who have given much attention to the subject, fact that prohibition, as it is at present practiced, does not prohibit, but that something further is needed to abate the great and generally-recognized evil of alcoholic intemperance It is of little use to continually ain at what theorists would like to see accomplished. Rather, let us attempt that which is practicable.

As The Times said, in the article referred to, and now repeats, three fourths of the liquor evil might be removed by introducing two reforms—the abolition of the treating habit and the provision of attractive substitutes for the saloon. Add to these things the strict regulation of place where liquor is sold, a State law to assure the purity of liquors, as well as foods, and comprehensive education n regard to the dangers of alcoholic indulgence, from a scientific stand-point, and we shall have done about all that can be accomplished, so long as poor human nature remains what

THE BURBANK. "Capt. Lettar-plair" is a woman's play, written by a woman and pleasing to women and eminine men. James Neill chose it for made its first secure-reputation in San Francisco with the play, and when it was presented here two years ago at a special matinée—the Neill repertoire being then, as now, full to overflowing—its daintiness and chic novelty aroused a curiosity that has not until now had a chance for satisfaction. It is the kind of play that the Neill Company excells in, and while it has few points of merit as a drama or as a study of life, it furnishes those who go to the theater merely for entertainment to the theater merely for entertainment an evening of most delicious fun. 'Margaret Merington, a New York school teacher, wrote "Capt. Letter-blair" for E. H. Sothern. He wanted a blair" for E. H. Sothern. He wanted a genteel Irish comedy. It could hardly be expected that an American girl, who knew little, practically, of English or Irish life, could secure the atmosphere for such a play, and she has not, in that way, done anything-unexpected. Neither could it be expected that a school teacher unacquainted with the stage could satisfy its technical requirements, and there again only the expected happened. What was wanted, though not quite expected, was lines, literary merit and a semblance of Irish character, if not the real character itself.

Itself.

The really essential thing Miss Merington supplied, so that we have the spectacle of a successful, pleasing play without dramatic strength, without characterization and without correct atmosphere. The story is not of much moment, because it is of little consequence to the action, which exists as a vehicle for scintillant repartee, springing mostly from Capt. Lettarblair. The audience is made aware that the captain is in financial straits which prohibit his marriage with the wealthy girl of his choice, who, it can easily be seen, is in love with him. The difficulty never seems to be a real one, so that no one ever doubts that it will come out all right. The complication that makes Fanny, Lettarblair's intended, unknowingly crowd him for money so that she can turn it over to him again as an unknown gift, is not made lucid until the last act, when it is too late to furnish the excitement it ought to. That is but one of the glaring structural defects—the situations are all flimsy and even the clever ones frivolous—though the audience apparently never thinks of such incumbrances as dramatic sequence and consistent charácter.

That in the play which pleases does The really essential thing Miss Mer-never thinks of such incumbrances as dramatic sequence and consistent charácter.

That in the play which pleases does it effectively. Pew Sunday-night audiences enjoy light comedy so thoroughly as this one did. That was because the wit is sparkling, but not subtle. If Miss Merington may be believed, a pun is the dearest thing to an Irish Peart. Capt. Lettarbiar is a dashing, thoughtless, presumptuous, overmodest, tender, affectionate, epigrammatic fellow, like one of Charles Lever's heroes. The captain is one of Mr. Neill's finest characterizations. His Irish infection is delicately flavored and surely intoned and brings with it a taste of the heather. His matinde admirers may object to his mustache, but it gives him a distinction and with the brogue almost hides his identity.

The woman who loves the captain is obliged to do several embarrassing things. The worst is to catch her dress in a door and lay flat on the floor in an effort to reach the knob with a sword. Miss Chapman accomplishes that task in becoming style and the rest of her comedy, which was in most instances legitimate, is of the sort that few can play better than she. Her work is always delightful. Of nothing she makes something, and out of something she usually gets everything. There are only two character studies with any fidelity to life. One is a mincing, hyphenated dean, charmingly portrayed by Frank McVicars and the other is a blunt, dog-eared sergeant, whom John Burton makes effective. Donald Bowles and Julia Dean are as successful as possible with colorless characters in colorless situations, and Scott Seaton shows an imbeelle clerk. Lillian Andrews gives a fine companion study to Frank McVicars's dean in a faded, lovelorn maid of unnumbered years. Clifford Dempsey is a non-chalast thoroughts. study to Frank McVicars's dean in a faded, lovelorn maid of unnumbered years. Clifford Dempsey is a non-chalant, thoroughgoling villain, insid-fously despicable and conveniently de-spised. Robert Morris and Arthur Cros-well complete the cast.

ORPHEUM. The usual happy family was at the Orpheum last night for the week's opening. Each Monday night brings together nearly the same people, acquainted with each other and with that half of the bill held over from the previous week. The first four numbers last night got an extra welcome. Kelly and Violette seemed to have established themselves as favorites. Kelly had a new song—he must have written it himself—about a mother of whose "boy in blue" she was "thinking through her tears." Violette had some wonderful new gowns, delicate, costly and stunning. Fanny Rice told how Salvator won in Ella Wheeler Wilcox style. Hedrix and Prescott and the Blackbirds also hold over.

Frank Lincoln said that the San Francisco climate had gotten into his voice, and that he must be excused from extra effort, but that if any hearer should return another night he would get more. Lincoln might give more, in quantity—which would endanger the laughing capacity of the house—but the quality of his humor cannot be beaten. It is studious, unctuous, playful, verbose, mirthful, tuneful, continuous and, finally, lachrymose. You laugh till you cry at the imitation of the German professor at Heidelberg. There are also imitations of an American political spelibinder, of a Frenchman toasting the ladies and of a maidenly girl perpetrating on the piano at 7 a.m. His fun does not come from the comic almanaes, but bubbles out of himself. With regard to the action of Board of Supervisors in refusing With regard to the action of the Board of Supervisors in refusing the committee a site for the statue on the Courthouse grounds, Gen. Otts said that when the time came for the test and the people were called upon to approve or condemn the action of the board, it would be found that a vast amount of feeling had been aroused against their action. The talk about sending the monument away, he said, had aroused a great wave of feeling, and the Supervisors would have to face their action at the polis.

Mr. Kays said he did not believe it necessary to assume, in whatever reply was made to the State Capitol Commissioners, that the statue would be sufficient to say that it would be sufficient to say that it would be aufficient to say that it will be located in the city of the Senator's adoption.

Mr. Cass thought the committee placed on the Courthouse grounds. He suggested that it would be sufficient to say that it will be located in the city of the Senator's adoption.

Mr. Cass thought the committee might as well define the lasue, and he presented a resolution to be forwarded to the commission, which, as amended by Gen. Otis, reads as follows:

"Resolved, that we tender our thanks to the Board of State Capitol Commissioners for their offer; but this committee, acting in accordance with what it conceives to be its duty to the majority of the subscribers to the memorial monument fund, expresses its conviction that the monument should be erected on the Courthouse grounds in Los Angeles, in accordance with the original intention and the expressed wishes of that majority."

The resolution was seconded by Mr. Francis, who said that it was wise to let the public know that the committee intends to carry out the original intention, if possible. It was then adopted by unanimous vote, and Secretary Scott was instructed to communicate the decision of the committee to the commission at once.

Decision of Their Board of Trade

Decision of Their Board of Trade Yesterday—Men Found to Wigglewaggle the Great Dragon.

It has been decided by the Chinese merchants to participate in the Fiesta floral parade, Friday, May 2. This action was taken yesterday when their Board of Trade notified Secrétary Zechandelaar that they would be on hand and would present a big display. During the past week this question has been discussed by the Chinese merchants. They heartily entered into the spirit of the proposition, and were very enthusiastic over it, but drawbacks loomed up, causing them to wait until a thorough canvass of the subject was had, before accepting the invitation. They were desirous of making a good showing or none, but yesterday it was found that sufficient men could be had to carry out the details of arrangements made, so the merchants decided to turn out.

NITED VERDE SURFACE

SMELTER CLOSED ON ACCOUNT OF WALK-OUT

An Interesting Experiment.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) April 5.—The PRESCOTT (Ariz.) April 5.—The surface hands at the smelter of the United Verde Company at Jerome have struck again. Five hundred men are reported to be out, and the smelter has had to be closed down. It is understood that the strike was occasioned by an attempt of the management to increase the quantity of work done by the men in the converter department, and thus, to some extent, cut down the working force.

CAMPS AROUND PRESCOTT.

The new Vulcan smelter at Chloride, Mohave county, is expected to be in operation by June 1. It will be located on the line of the Arisona and Utah Railroad, a mile west of the camp, at a point convenient for water and for the reception of ore.

The Tennessee mine at Chloride will resume work in a few days, after an idle period of two months.

A new steam hoist has been piaced upon the California mine, near Chloride, a property owned by John Barry, and a large force of miners will be put at work at once.

A 100-ton concentrating plant is projected for the Lucky Boy mine at Chloride.

The old Specie Pay mine at Mineral Hill is to be worked again by a corporation lately organized. The property has a very large, well-defined ledge carrying lead and silver of low grade. The Yaeger Cañon Copper Company has resumed work on its property, with added equipment of an eighty-horse-power boiler and pump to handle the water met with several months ago in large quantity. The company will now proceed to sink its main shaft to the depth of 1000 feet.

A diamond drill has been purchased for exploration work on the property of the Hercules Mining Company in Castle Creek district.

INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.

SMELTING WITH CRUDE OIL. be tried near the city of Prescott burning smelter on the Mountain Queen group, an extension of the Boggs mine. The smelter is the invention of M. P. Boss of San Francisco, who will erect it and will have charge of the plant. The machinery has been ordered from Chicago and is to be delivered by May 1. The furnace is of a different type from the regular water-lack smelter. It is nearly horizontal and is arranged somewhat on the reverberatory style, the flerce flames from the oll-burners playing upon the ore from the lower chamber. The process is wholly experimental, but the company and the inventor confidently predict that crude oil will be used wholly in the Southwest before long, instead of coke, for the smelting of ore. The company is fortunate in having ample water supply with a fall of 1500 feet, developing enough power to enable the company to dispense entirely with steam equipment.

DENVER BRANCH MINT.

If correctly stated, the reasons given by Director Roberts of the Mint at Washington for his refusal to recommend the establishment of a branch mint at Denver, Colo., are among the most extraordinary ever recorded. Senator Patterson of Colorado tells the story in a dispatch to his paper in Denver. In it he gives the substance of a conversation respecting the matter, stated to have taken place between Senator Rawlins and Director of the Mint Roberts, in which the latter is quoted as saying that the streat production of gold is creating alarm in money circles; that as soon as mining is recommenced in South Africa the production will be so enormously increased that it will seriously disarrange, if not destroy, the world's credit. The Director of the Mint is reported as saying further that it seemed to him necessary to discourage rather than to encourage the production of gold, concluding by saying that as every new government assay office tended to encourage the production of gold, concluding by saying that as every new government assay office tended to encourage the production of gold, concluding by saying that as every new government assay office tended to encourage the production of gold, concluding by saying that as every new government assay office tended to encourage the production of gold, concluding by saying that as every new government assay office tended to encourage the production of gold, concluding by saying that as every new government assay office tended to encourage the production of gold, concluding by saying that as every new government assay office tended to encourage the production of gold to the could not assist the Colorado Senat

PROVIDENCE MOUNTAINS.

In no portion of Southern California is more prospecting being done and more discoveries being made than in the Providence range of mountains in San Bernardino county. On the east slope several deposits of ore carrying high goid values have been recently made, while on the west slope some immense ledges of red hematite ore have been uncovered. At the Glant Ledge properties (gold, copper and silver,) on the east side, development is being actively carried on, and the work done shows a ledge of shipping ore extending a distance of over 1000 feet, near the foot wall of the Glant Ledge vein on the Morning Star and Athens claims. Upon the latter it has been found that the sheet of oxide ore, which is about six hundred feet in length, rests in contact with gold quartz ore, four feet in thickness. Three samples of ore from the drift were sent down this week to President Gregory, who had them assayed; the result showed values of $137.78, $66.04 and $82.33, an average value of $35.38 per ton, silver being figured at 50 cents per troy ounce and copper at 10 cents per pound.

Near to, but in what is known as the Arrow mining district of the Providence Mountains, the Providence Gold and Copper Company, in which several prominent Los Angeles men are interested, is opening up some good gold ore bodies. It so a matter of current rumor that the Galifornia Eastern Railway Company will construct a branch line of its road to tap the eastern slope of the Providence range, or, in the event of its failing to do so, that the Santa Fé company will construct a branch road out from Fenner. One or other road would be of immense value to that district, as it would greatly encourage development of its ore bodies, and would enable the mine owners to make profitable shipments of their ores.

It is the invention of Otis Andrews of El Paso, and the advantages he claims for it may be summarized by saying that the main principle involved is to keep the dirt well distributed and not be to the it mass together. Then by a repetition of the process the gold is set free from the dirt and by the aid of quicksliver is gradually extracted until there is no gold left in the dirt.

COPPER IN ENGLAND.

The Ironmonger of London, in a review of the copper situation, says: "As regards the immediate future, in face of the apparent scarcity of consumers' copper in America, as evidenced by the difficulty which buyers here experience in getting due delivery of purchases made during the past few months, it would seem that the tendency rather encourages the views entertained by 'buils." The tendency is, it says, for higher prices.

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN IN FIELD AND MARKET.

In spite of the unsatisfactory condition of the fuel-oil market, local pro dition of the fuel-oil market, local producing oil property continues to look good to eastern investors, who have faith in the lubricated road to wealth. As the result of a careful inspection of the local field, and after an examination into the possibilities of the market, R. A. Phillips of Pittsburgh has closed for a producing property situated at the intersection of Pearl and Reservoir streets in the east end of the home field. On the property is one producing well, now credited with a production of forty barrels. The well was drilled by Mrs. E. A. Summers, who has owned it for several months.

The consideration was $1500, and the DEVIL'S DEN ASSESSMENT. DEVIL'S DEN ASSESSMENT.

The Devil's Den Consolidaed Oil Company, an operator on lands in northwestern Kern, has levied another assessment, and with the funds will continue development work. Drillers have not been successful in this field, but there are those who are confident that oil is to be found there.

It is says, for higher prices.

THE M'CABE EXTENSION.

In a report printed in the Los Angeles Mining Review of operations at the McCabe Extension, in Yavapai country, Ariz, it is stated that there has been recently added a high-speed 40-horse-power engine, by means of which the company now furnishes electric lighting to the town of McCabe, as also to stores, residences and other buildings in the camp. On its Henry Clay claim the shaft is down 250 feet, with about 200 feet of drifting, and about 100 feet of cross-cutting. At that depth the ledge is four feet wide. It is a concentrating ore, and it is stated that when development is further advanced, the company will put up a reduction plant. The property is within easy reach of Prescott, and has been shiping its ore to El Paso, but it has just made a contract with the Val Verde smelter, near Jerome, to treat 200 tons of its ore.

The Wickenburg News-Herald states that machinery for the Socano property is being sent forward as rapidly as possible. The 20-stamp mill will soon be ready for work. The mill was built in Los Angeles.

"There were," it says, "twenty-eight cars in the train, each car containing 60,000 pounds of copper, a total of 840 tons. There were already more than 2,000,000 pounds of copper stored in the plant, to be worked into wire."

MEXICO.

Modern Mexico, now printed in New York, draws attention to a matter that is not without interest to manufacturers in California. It says: "The mining machinery men of the United States can well afford to devote considerable attention to the development that is in progress, and which is contemplated in Mexico. Old mines that have been in operation for centuries are being equipped with modern machinery, and the number of new properties that are being opened up has never been equaled in the long history of mining in this country."

Reports received at the Los Angeles office of the Evangelian Copper Company, operating in the Santa Catarinal district in Lower California, are very astisfactory. Two reports were received from the superintendent last month. In it is stated that a depth of fifty-five feet in the main shaft, the voil had widened out to other than a state of china and arkansas Copper, Zinc and Lead. 2 cents bid; Pennsylvania, 20 cents bid;

Miss Lillian Martin, Graduate of Training School for Nurses, Brantford, Can., now of Milwaukee, Wis., Testifies that the Hospital Doctors Rely Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Cure Severe Cases of Woman's Ills. She says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - While we are taught in the training schools throughout the country to look down upon patent medicines, and while the doctors in the hospitals speak slightingly of them to patients, I have found that they really know different. I have frequently known physicians to give Lydia E.Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to women suffering with the most serious complications of ovarian troubles, falling of the womb, leucorrhœa, and other disorders. They would as a rule put the Compound in regular medicine bottles and label it 'Tonic,' or other names, but I knew it was your Compound, and have seen them fill it in prescription bottles. I have never seen anything but happy results from its use; inflammation and ulceration has been relieved and cured in a few weeks, especially where your Sanative Wash has been applied also. I feel it but due to you to give proper credit for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; I have great faith in it and often recommend it to others."-MISS LILLIAN MARTIN, 384 27th Ave., Milwaukee Wis. $5000 FORFEIT IF THE ABOVE LETTER IS NOT GENUINE.

The address of the evening was written by W. C. Patterson, president of the Los Angeles National Bank. At the last moment, Mr. Patterson was taken ill, and G. Ray Horton acted as his proxy, reading the excellent address with good effect.

"The Y.M.C.A. is the antithesis of the saloon," said Mr. Patterson. "The latter, as the result of keen business acumen, is made attractive. Art, music, the drama, athletic and other sports are utilized for making the saloon a place of agreeable resort for young men.

"The active young man must be aroused, interested and entertained. His social nature must be satisfied, and he will resort to places where his demands can be met. The Y.M.C.A., properly organized, will meet these demands: will cater to the desires of young men and create for them an atmosphere that is beautiful and good.

demands can be met. The Y.M.C.A. properly organized, will meet these demands: will cater to the desires of young men and create for them an atmosphere that is beautiful and good.

"In every department of haman effort, the pertinent question is: Will it pay? This is affirmatively answered by the support which is given to the Y.M.C.A. and similar institutions, by the ablest financiers. Talmage once said that it was next to impossible for a man with a bad liver and poor digestion to be religious.

"There is now, as never before, a demand for talent to manage gigantic enterprises and their collateral branches. A weeding-out process is going on: men of ability are being selected, while mere time-servers, or men poorly equipped as to character and education, are being dispensed with.

"Any and every influence which will help young men to acquire the physical strength, the mental vigor and the great problems of the present and the future, is a blessing to the race."

D. A. Schweitzer made a brief address, representing the students. Hessid that no place had been so pleasant to him as the classrooms, and that he also spoke for many other young "I can see what has been achieved"

"I can see what has been achieved here," he said, "but I cannot look into the future and see what the results will be."

Secretary William Cleaver had the last word, in which he said the association held out its hand to help everyyoung man, whether he comes from palace or hovel, who is willing to help himself. Said the secretary:

"We say to the young men of Los Angeles: Come on, fellows, and we'll help you." There is not a young man here who has not the points of strong, manly, American citizenship—than which there is nothing greater under the sun."

YOUTHFUL CRIMINAL.

Successfully Plans and Executes a Confidence Game, but Slight Carelessness Leads to His Detection.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)
CHICAGO, April 7.—In the guise of a messenger boy, made perfect by his clever use of grease paints and hair dye, Ernest Erickson, the nineteen-year-old son of Mrs. Lawrence Erickson, a diamond merchant of Evanston, successfully victimized two downtown jewelry firms, and only for a mistake due to his own carelessness might have succeeded in one of the most clever confidence games ever brought to the attention of the Chicago police. In all diamonds valued at $1500 were secured by the youth who, after instrusting them with friends, all of whom were ignorant of his deception, boldly returned to his home and assumed his natural character as that of clerk in his mother's store.

Detectives were already at the store trying to solve the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the diamonds, and noticed traces of grease paint and dye on the boy's face and hair, which aroused suspicions that led to young Erickson's arrest, and the discovery that for three days be had successfully played two roles. Erickson at first stoutly denied the accusations against him, but finally confessed and assisted the police in recovering all the stolen gems. BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS+A.M.]

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

C. Percival Baker was arraigned in the United States District court yesterday on the charge of impersonating a United States officer. He pleaded not guilty, and next Monday his trial will be set. Some months ago he wanted to get an X-ray photograph of a Chinese woman's small foot, and to do so, it is alleged, he represented he was a government official.

Fractured His Knee. Fractured His Knee.

F. A. Cardwell of No. 912 South Broadway, an employé of the Los Angeles Electric Company, was painfully injured at No. 235 South Olive street yesterday afternoon. While descending a flight of stone steps he fell and fractured his left knee cap. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where the fracture was reduced, and then sent to the County Hospital, where he will be confined for several weeks.

C. H. Grewell hung some wet clothing on a chair near the stove in his room at No. 752 South Los Angeles street yesterday morning. When he returned a few minutes later the garments were scorched and the room was filled with steam and smoke. Instead of removing the clothes, he ran excitedly to the street and turned in an alarm of fire. Three engines, two chemical engines and a truck responded, and saved what was left of his clothes.

Young Thief Caught.

Arthur Leonhardt, aged 13, is in jail on a felony charge of larceny, and has confessed his guilt. He picked the pocket of another boy named Oscar Horn in the Sixth-street Park Sunday, and when the loss was discovered ran away. Horn reported the matter to the detectives, and gave such a good description of the other boy that his arrest soon followed. This is the third time that young Leonardt has been arrested for theft, and an effort will be made to have him committed to the State Reform School at Whittier.

There is a division in the ranks of the mail carriers in the city on the question of whether the present sombrero shall be retained or abandoned for a lighter heimet-shaped headpiece. At the monthly meeting held on Satday night, the vote on the question was a tie, and now those favoring a change are busy canvassing for another vote. The arguments urged in favor of the new style is that it costs only a third as much as the old, is lighter, and will retain its shape longer. Postmaster Groff says that he will indorse the change if a majority favors it.

POTTER'S NEW HOTEL

ber-Many Carpenters Idle.

M. M. Potter, proprietor of the Van Nuys, returned lata last night from Santa Barbara, where he has been looking after his big tourist hotel, in course of construction. The work has been delayed greatly on account of the non-arrival of lumber, and for that reason a large number of men have been idle for more than a week. Mr. Potter denies that the comp! don of the hotel will be delayed because of the high price of materials, and he declares also that there is no labor trouble.

"We have three cargoes of lumber on the way from Puget Sound," said Potter, "but we have no way of telling when they will arrive. They should have been at Santa Barbara long ago. As soon as they arrive the work on the hotel will be rushed as rapidly as possible.

"The shortage of lumber made it hotel will be rushed as rapidly as possible.

"The shortage of lumber made it necessary to take off fifty carperners ten days ago. Fifty more were released a few days later, and still another fifty last Thursday. This leaves but twelve or fifteen carpenters on the work. Full forces of brick masons, iron and electrical workers, plumbers and painters are at work, however, and I hope soon to have the carpenters in service.

"Notwithstanding the delay, the building is assuming large proportions, and there is no doubt that it will be ready to open on time. Four stories are up in one part and three in another, and a fair idea now may be had of the extent of the enterprise."

The engineers are watching it like a racing yacht on the ways.

Huntingion is spending fortunes on a track. The road bed is ballasted as for heavy trains. Rails far beyond the usual weight are to be used.

The road has been made as straight as an arrow—for speed. Expensive fills have been made where most trollers would have been content with no fills. This is done in order to bring about the result that no grade on the whole road exceeds one-tenth of 1 per cent. No curve is to excee! 3 deg. cars are to be capable of execution some engineering works which will make Huntington's road unique among trolley lines.

Down in the flats below the Dominguez ranch is a big pile driver, made by Dozier's men, driving piles for two long bridges (one 1000 feet, one 400 feet,) across the marshes.

On the heavy cut just before the trolley line crosses the line of the Southern Pacific, Dozier has a miniature railroad line aiready in operation dumbing dirt from the cut into a gigantic fill beyond.

The cars, which are patent contrivances, made by the men in the camp blacksmith shops, are dumping two or three times as fast as the work could be done by wagons.

Huntington is in a hurry.

Property along the line of the road advanced enormously in value. Property along the line of the road has advanced enormously in value. Land that could be bought a few months ago for a very small figure, is now bringing $509 an acre. Several men have made fortunes out of it.

speed of from fifty to sixty miles an hour.

In order to get more speed, Huntington is planning way ahead for four tracks.

He has quietly acquired thirty-five feet of land at each side of the countyroad, over which he has the right of way into Long Beach. In the future he intends to build thereon two additional tracks, on either side of the double track, to be first laid. These two extra tracks will be used for through trains, making no stops between Long Beach and the city.

The work on the troiley line is rushed as rapidly as men and teams can do it. One serious disadvantage is the scarcity of men. Yesterday several teams were lying idle, because there were no drivers to work them.

The roadbed has been made from Compton to Twentieth street, in the city. The scrapers are now at work in the old Dominguez rancho.

There is something almost pathetic in the sight of the graders clawing out the dirt for a mile-a-minute troiley at the very door of the old haclenda mouldering away in the dreams of a lazy, proud old yesterday, before the Gringo came.

COURSE CHANGED.

The engineers have had to change the course of the road to make it Mere Bridle Paths Unworthy of Being Called the King's Highway. The engineers have had to change the course of the road to make it sweep 210 feet to the west to save another old adobe. It is the old chapel of the Dominguez rancho, built in the days when the old estate stretched out for miles and miles, to the Wilmington hills.

"It is not my intention," said the historian, "to consign El Camino Real entirely to the realm of myth. There is enough reality and reality, if I may be allowed the pun, in that old camino that sigzagged its way up the coast long ago, to save if from the leonoclast, but the 'real,' the 'royal,' part of it will have to go."

The speaker then went on to say that he had been unable to find in any standard history of California, or in the old Spanish archives of Los Angeles, any authority for the statement that there was a royal road or a king's highway leading up the coast from mission to mission, El Camino Real, as used by the Californians in early times, simply meant a main traveled road. Between the missions there were several caminos. "Which of these," he asked, "shall the County Supervisors set aside as the Simon-pure Camino Real, over which the tourist shall pass on their pligrimage to the ruins of the Franciscan missions? If there ever was any trail up the coast entitled to be called a royal road, or the king's highway, it was that made by the first explorers of the country. Portolo's expedition in 1763, and that, if relocated, would not pass haif a dozen missions. "The old caminos have been so changed by the subdivision of the great ranchos, so twisted from their former course, that it would be impossible to re-locate them, and even if they could be re-located the tourist and the camino enthusiast would prefer visiting the ruins of the old missions in a palace car, to climbing the steep grades of the old trails in a joiting stage or on the quarterdeck of a donkey.

"The old-time native Californian was a pathfinder, not a roadmaker. He built no bridges. He graded down no hills. He filled up no hollows. He did not need to do that. His road was a camino de herradura, a bridle path He left to his conquerers no good broad highway. He had no deed for such. His only vehicle was the creaking wooden-wheeled carreta, drawn by long-horned oxen, and it was little used except on level ground and for short journeys.

for the polytechnic high school crai-mance was unanimous.

While the Board of Education re-joiced, the special committee of the Council felt very much cast down. This cerimittee, composed of Walker, Allen and McLain, brought in a ma-jority report, signed by Walker and Mc-Lain, in favor of a change in plans for the school building at Eighth street and Grand avenue.

that the lors of the old building could be avoided in this way.

Walker spoke in favor of the plan indorsed by the committee. He said the new building would cost only $10,000, and the four rooms would be sufficient to relieve the pressure as soon as a new building was erected on Valencia street. He did not think the children to fill the two large new buildings contemplated by the Board of Education would be forthcoming.

When all the Councilmen had explained why the Board of Education should be presiminent in its own field, a voic was taken on the report.

Lauder voted with McLain and Walker for the recommendation, and the other six Councilmen against the report.

water board. Pierce said he supposed it was the duty of the Council to advertise for bids.

Allen was opposed to withdrawing the advertisement, as he said water is needed very much in the Sixth Ward, and summer is approaching. He suggested that the bids be received by the Council and given to the water board for a report.

Bids are due next Monday, and it is probable that this action will be taken, although the Council could not agree yesterday.

On recommendation of the Finance Committee, the City Auditor and City Treasurer were instructed to transfer 80 per cent. of the water revenues each month from the "water revenue" to the "water operating" fund from now until October. This money will be used by the water board to make extensions and improvements in the system.

Garland, stating that one of his clients is about to erect a three-story pressed-brick structure at the northeast corner of Broadway and Franklin streets, and that he would be very glad to give the city an option on the ground floor for use as water department offices, if terms could be arranged. Bowen thought the communication should be referred to the Water Commission, but Pierce to the Water Commission, but Pierce to bjected on the ground that the water board has asked the Council to provide quarters, and that the City Fathers should not shirk the responsibility. CITY PRINTING. SPECIFICATIONS ADOPTED.

for city printing will be based on a sworn affidavit of the paid circulation of the medium seeking the advertising contract. Such was the purport of the decision made by the Supply Committee and approved by the Council yesterday. Instead of placing a paper with an average net daily circulation of 30,000 copies in the same class with a paper that issues only 1000 to 2000 copies, he Council has adopted specifications that require the rate per inch to be made on a basis of circulation. The Council reserves the right to compute the flat rate and award the conpute the flat rate and award the contract to the lowest bidder on that basis if it so desires.

From recent discussions the Council has gained much knowledge of printing, and the good business sense of the members prompted them to adopt a fair method of bidding—a method pursued by the private advertiser who always seeks to secure the greatest publicity for the least money.

There was no discussion of the Supply Committee's report on the floor of the Council yesterday. The City Fathers adjusted their differences in caucus, executive session being held both before and after the morning session.

Testerday Councilman Bowen explained that the action of the Council was simply an oversight. Temporarily the provision of the ordinance which empowered the Water Commission to call for bids had been forgotten. The board had asked the Council to call for bids on boring wells, and it was supposed at the time that bids for pipe came in the same category. He moved that the advertisement be withdrawn and the whole matter turned over to the water board.

Walker stated that if the ordinance was had such a provision in it, then it should be amended. He declared that should be amended. He declared that should be amended. He declared that the state of the council response on the specifications for printing the ordinance, and the good business sense of the members prompted them to adopt a member provision to adopt a would a line over private property that would parallel their proposed Compton-avenue line.

Fifth—All advertisements are to be

The most plausible explanation of the franchise application is that Henry E. Huntington, foreseeing a long period of franchise litigation, desires to secure an opening for his San Pedrs and Long Beach line. The right of way traversed by the proposed road is almost wholly acreage property. The streets are few, and but little traveled. These conditions would make it possible to maintain a much higher speed than on the traveled thoroughfares. Dunn says that Huntington, merely wishes to build up the country, but the application looks like a connecting link for the inter-urban road.

The franchise application is worded as follows:

The writ is returnable on April 18.

The complaint recalls all of Fuse-lehr's long service in the department, beginning as a call man in 1889, down to April, 1900, when he was appointed assistant fire chief, which office he held at $150 a month until he was compelled at $150 a month until he was compelled to go to a hospital as the result of in-juries received while on duty in June, 1900. The accident happened about midnight, when he was responding to an alarm of fire. The wagon he was an alarm of fire. The wagon he was driving collided with a cable car near the corner of Temple and Fremont streets, and he was thrown violently to the ground and dragged for a considerable distance, sustaining thereby injuries to his back, kidneys and other vital parts of his body.

On March 7, 1902, Fuselehr demanded relief at half pay under the pension law of the State, and was turned down by the commissioners, whom he now cites to show cause why they refused his request. He states that there is $1800 in the city treasury apportioned to the pension fund, with nobody drawing relief therefrom, and he believes that his claim is a good one. His attorney is E. A. He had to be dragged and pushed into the presence of the judge.

Then he refused to talk—never said a single word. All the officers of the court, including Judge Smith himself, piled him with many questions, in an effort to get him to say something, but all in vain. He would plead neither guilty nor not guilty.

CLAIM FOR REBATE.

Overcharges by the Old City Water Company-Appeals from Charitable

By a unanimous decision of the Board of Water Commissioners at its regular weekly meeting yesterday afternoon, a policy of non-responsibility for overcharges to consumers by the old water company was adopted, and as a result of this a request by the Harper & Reymolds Company for rebate on overcharges, dating from July 1895, and amounting to nearly 1896, was refused. The Committee on Rebates reported that it had no power to act in the matter prior to the time of the transfer, but recommended that the overcharges which had accumulated under city ownership be rebated, which recommendation was adopted.

Auditor Miner reported that no insurance policy had been assigned in the transfer of the water plant, and that a search had failed to reveal one, but that the insurance companies had assured him that the water asstem is still carrying $3300 insurance. His recommendation to increase this to $850 was referred to the proper committee.

As an emergency measure, a three-fourths rebate on a bill of $720 against the Bethlehem free baths was granted, but it was explained by the committee that acted on the request of that institution that the measure was only temporary, as no policy toward charitable organizations had yet been formulated. A request from persons connected with the Associated Charities for free water for an indigent's hospital being constructed near Elysian Park, was referred to the proper committee. On a request from I. H. Preston and W. M. Millar asking that the city relinquish its water rights on eighty-eight acres of the Rancho San Rafael, the board decided that it had no power to act.

McKeon inc.

Superintendent Mulholland reported that a private right of way for the force main from the Buena Vista pumping plant to Angeleño Heights would be required over 5700 feet of property, and that this would cost about $1300.

Auditor Miner reported that there was $75,000 in the water-revenue fund, and that the March collections for water amounted to $42,283.32.

a Man, Lead to Arrest of Lodginghouse Keeper-Humane Officer Hopes to Rescue Little Girl.

The Police Court experienced a shock yesterday, when Mrs. Minnie A. Jewett, a member of the much-talked-of St. Louis gang of shoplifters, came before Justice Austin on the specific charge of grand larceny, in having stolen from the Boston Dry Goods Store, a black crepe dress, valued at 875.

Store, a black crepe dress, valued at $75.

The dress was found in a room in a Spring-street lodging-house, along with other stolen goods, and Mrs. Jewett was supposed to be the woman who rented the room. In fact, prior to her arraignment on this particular charge, the lodging-house people had given a very accurate description of her, and there seemed to be no doubt about being able to identify her with the room in question. It, therefore, came as a great shock to the court, when these witnesses were placed on the stand, yesterday, and they refused to swear that Mrs. Jewett was the woman who had rented the room.

That was the only missing link in the evidence. The dress was identified as the one stolen from the store, and Mrs. Jewett was identified as the one stolen from the store, and Mrs. Jewett was identified as the one stolen from the store, and Mrs. Jewett was identified as the one stolen from the store, and Mrs. Jewett was identified as the woman who had spent much time trying on garments in the cloak department, just prior to its disappearance.

The defendant was legally discharged, though actually remaining in jail, where she awaits hearing on two other charges. Her co-workers in iniquity are Mrs. Harris, who is also in jail awaiting hearing, and the latter's reputed husband, who is serving a fifty days' sentence for drunkenness.

On the outside, are Mrs. Jewett's husband and a fellow named Furey, who are putting up the fight for their release. They have not been connected, by any evidence, with the forgetfulness of the witnesses who refused to identity Mrs. Jewett. beans.

Lodgers Must Register. Fred Kenworthy, proprietor of the Monroe lodging-house, on South Main street, was before Justice Austin's court yesterday on a charge of failing to comply with the law requiring all persons to register when taking rooms in a lodging-house. Kenworthy's protestations that he "didn't know," failed to stand out against the officer's testimony that he had been frequently informed, and it cost him $5 to find out.

To Rescue Little Girl.

The Humane Officer has for some time been endeavoring to secure evidence which would enable him to remove from her unfavorable surroundings a robust little girl who may have been seen selling papers on the street, she is aged about 3 years, and lives with her grandmother, Mrs. Renschler, who, it is asserted, is neither morally, physically nor financially able to care for the child. Yesterday the old woman was arrested and charged with a misdemeanor, in compelling the child to sell papers. While this may be no crime, it is hoped at the hearing this afternoon to present evidence that will permit the authorities to place the girl in good hands, in order that she may not in a few years be led into a life of shame. She was, some time ago, living with friends up north, but the old woman refused to let her remain there, and went after her and brought her back to the city. To Rescue Little Girl.

be enlarged more than once. Ginger beer sold at twopence a bottle. After four years of partnership, being then 21 years of age, Louis Carez sold his share in the concern to his partner for £10,000 and went to Parls. He invested his capital in the silk house of Vaccasin, at that time (about the year 1815) already a very important one. But Louis Carez was a born merchant, and in 1824 the firm of Carez, Vaccossin & Co. had become the largest and richest of the silk trade in France. He was elected president of the Board of Trade in Paris, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was a member of the Legion of Honor, and many times a millionaire. His son, Alfred Carez, was the chum of an American youth at college, who was often a guest in the house, and many a time I heard the old gentleman when he had taken some friends through his art and picture gallery, one of the finest collections in Paris, say, with a smile: "See what can be got out of a bottle of ginger beer"—[American Carbonator and American Bottler, New York.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

CHICAGO, April 7.—At the outset, there were numerous builleh influences at work in the wheat pit. Cables were steady, and the market was helped by a big drop in temperature. The Kannas State report was the early buil factor. This estimate, which, Saturday, was reported at 74, was corrected today to a condition of only 70, as compared with 105 a year ago. The report also showed a loss of 400,000 in the acreage from last year, and a possible decrease in the yield of 20,00,000 bushels. Other States had been rending in lower estimates, and these influenced an upturn in prices. May wheat opened ¼ to %c up at 714,671%, Shorts covered; there was wome good buying, and prices held firm for some time. A Chicago paper printed an exhaustive report of crop conditions, which, in appite of the damages in the Southwest, promised about the same crop as last year. This factor, together with large weekly shipments and a smaller decrease in the visible supply of 1,600,000 bushels less than had been expected, wors away the edge of the bullish turned week and helped push wheat backward. May wheat declined to 70%,6736, but the bullish turned in again to the support of the market. Shorts covered again, and there was a good raily, May closing firm, %c higher, at 71%,67 cm ruled weak again. ESPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, April _—The following synopsis of the presiduates for 1901, and the accompanying table, showing the production of precious stones in that year, have been sent to the Division of Mining and Mineral Resources of the United States Geological Survey by George F. Kung species Survey, by George F. Kunz, special agent in charge of precious stones. The principal items of interest concerning precious stones during the year 1901, precious stones during the year 1901, are as follows:

The yield of sapphires in Fergus county. Mont., was greater this year than in 1900, and two companies are now mining in the region where the blue stones are found. Exploration for the many fancy-colored sapphires has been carried on still further in the Rock Creek region, Granite county, Mont.

The deposit of rhodolite garnet in the Cowee Valley, Macon county, N. C., was worked extensively. Mining for dark blue, green and yellow beryls, for amethysts, and for emerald matrix was carried on in North Carolina.

The tournaline deposits at Mesa Grande,—San Diego county, Cal., were actively worked, and a new nearby deposit was discovered. The localities described in previous reports of this survey as producing the golden green chrysoprase, have been purchased, or a control of them for a stated period has been acquired, and more or less mining for this mineral has been carried on.

Several new turquoise companies mining for this mineral has been carried on.

Several new turquoise companies have been formed, so that seven companies are now actively engaged in mining that material, and are placing it on the market, accompanied by their respective trade-marks as a guarantee that such stones as may change in color will be exchanged for others. New Mexico is the chief source of the turquoise supply.

Sure Sign of Spring in New York. The determining sign of spring in this region has appeared for 1902. It isn't the note of the first vernal bird, or the "creak of the new spring boot," as the Danbury News man used to say, or the "turning of a young man's fancy to thoughts of love." The poet abused his license when he attributed that to snring instead of to meeting

FIGHT OVER WEDDING.

REDLANDS, April 7.—James and Fannie Busby and Mrs. Tina Busby, all colored, were fined $5 each for disturbing the peace. Fannie is a bride of only a few weeks, and Mrs. Busby does not approve of James's choice. She came here to get her boy to leave his wife. Friday night there was a three-cornered fight over who was to have possession of the wedding outfit. Fannie came out an easy winner in the fight, and James agreed in court to relinquish his claim for any of the bridal presents. The trio left yesterday for San Bernardino, according to their agreement with the court.

Monuments to Martyrs.

No city in the world has so many statues and monuments as Paris, and every day sees a new project for a new statue or bust. It is curious to note in this connection that a large proportion of the famous men honored in this sway came to their end by violence in some form or other. Many of them died on the scaffold, and a stroil through the Paris streets may give the hilbstopped human judgment. Denton and Lavoisier were guillottned, Jeanne d'Arc and Etlenne Delet were burned at the statue of the scaffold, and a stroil through the stake, Henry IV was murdered, Etlenne dar.—[Paris Messenger.

be in possession or a gold ingot, and he was watched.

He was seen to hand a customer, Richard Sill, some coins from a private drawer. As soon as Sill had gone a bank official followed him, and he was found to be in possession of three sovereigns, all of which were light. Forty of the sovereigns in Guest's till were also light. He was arrested, and in his room were found the most elaborate instruments for filing and producing artificial edges on gold coins.

Everything Goes by Precedent.

Some of the coronation columns in the daily and weekly press must provide amusing reading for the officials concerned, assuming those harassed individuals have any time or inclination for light literature. As a matter of fact, most of the details which have been heralded as "proposals" are simply foregone conclusions based upon precedent. A common mistake in studying the all-important question of precedents is made by those who refer to the ceremonials recorded in connection with Queen Victoria's coronation only; whereas the latest occasion on all fours with the forthcoming event is that of William IV. Innovations in recent coronations have been mostly of a negative character, the tendency being to shorten the formalities and the consequent strain on the principal actors. Queen Victoria was thus saved from the fatigue of the banquet, which in early times was an essential feature. We are told that Richard II was carried from the church back to the palace on the shoulders of knights, owing to excessive "fatigue and long fasting," and he no doubt did full justice to the "most splendid and profuse banquet" which followed. King William's coronation was succeeded by a dinner, at which he gave as a toast, "The land we live in," "in his frank and true English manner."

The Fortnight's Feast.

His Majesty, King Edward VII's decision to feast half a million of his poor subjects during coronation week is a repetition of the magnificent hospitality of King Edward I upon a like occasion. For fifteen days that monarch gave banquets to the rich and the poor, to princes, nobles and paupers. Tables were laid in many new halls built for the purpose, and attached to them were numerous kitchens, while additional leaden cauldrons were placed outside for cookery purposes. The Pipe Rolls record that 300 barrels of wine were purchased for the occasions. A huge temporary stable was erected in St. Margaret's Church yard, for the convenience of those of the nobility and prelates, who traveled to Westernicates with a reconfident account. There is a growing fear among those financially interested in the coronation festivities that success is being seriously jeopardised.

It is felt that persons of moderate means are being frightened by the repeated announcements that exorbitant prices will rule on the day of the great procession, and already there are disquieting indications of a "disastrous slump" such as occurred in connection with the pageant of 188". The pleasures and the privileges of the elebrations within the reach of those to whom "fancy" prices would be impossible.

At hotels having regular patrons, the rule will be that the rates of year-insertiously interfered with will not be a subject of the daily tariff, with meals a la carte. The view of hotel managers generally is that it would be madness to alienate their regular following for the sandout of special visiops as well as the rich, to see it, and to this end Messrs. Dean and Dawson of Charing Cross, have made arrangements which will enable them to deal with large numbers of those who want sat moderate cost.

POMONA, April 7.—A birthday dinner parly was given today by Dr. Hanna Scott Turner at her home on East Holt avenue in honor of Mrs. Salome H. Föxcroft, who has reache dthe ninetieth year of her life. The halls, reception and dining-rooms were handsomely decorated with smilax, carnations violets and potted palms. The place cards were hand-painted and contained the date of birth of each person present, with a sentiment appropriate to the month. Each guest at the table was over 70 years old, the youngest being 73. Those invited, beside the guest of honor, were Mmes. Webster, Bryan, Kidder, Palmer, Nichols, Loop, Jameson, Bagley, Titus, Gallup and McBride, Mrs. Foxcraft was born in New Gloucester, Me., April 7, 1812, and is the widow of Samuel Foxcroft, for whose father the town of Foxcroft, Me., was named. She came to Pomona about ten years ago. She is remarkably bright, energetic and industrious for one of her ripe age. Mrs. Föxcroft has been the recipient of gifts and congratulations from a host of friends today.

MONROVIA, April 7.—While beating his way on the Santa Fe overland, Sunday night, a young man named James Hock was run over and killed at the Monjovia depot. A companion says they were in Los Angeles, and wanted to reach Arizona, where work was awaiting them, and not having money to pay their full fare, they decided to board the overland at Pasadena and ride on the blind baggage. The plan is to get off at the side opposite to the depot whenever the train story, to elude the brakeman, and then jump on again when the train starts. Hock had done this many times before, and is said to have come all the way from Ohio that way.

starts. Hock had done this many times before and is said to have come all the way from Ohio that way.

Just before the train stopped at Monrovia, Hock swung himself down backward, and in some manner he was caught by a wheel, which ran over both his legs and carried him some distance.

The right leg was cut off below the knee, and the left was mangled. Both legs were broken above the knees. His clothing was torn to shreds. Everything possible was done for him, but he died in about two hours. He remained conscious until a short time before he died.

The young men had only been acquainted a few days, and so very little is known of the unfortunate. In his pocket were found stamp pictures of himself, and a card with this address: "James Hock, No. 110 Kilng street, Akron, O.," and that is supposed to be his home. He was apparently about 25 years of age. Hock's companion will remain here until after the Coroner's inquest.

Telegraphic instructions have been received to have the remains shipped to Akron, O.

AVALON. April T.—Lying in the bay since Saturday night has been the little schooner Bell of San Pedro, the craft on which Harry Olsen and another man had one of the most trying experiences of shipwreck that ever come to a man. Their boat was capsized in a storm near the Channel Islands last winter, and, clinging to it, Olsen drifted at the mercy of the winds and waves for seventeen days, without water or food, though in the cabin beneath him was plenty of both. After fourteen days of indescribable agony, Olsen's companion died, and three days later, Olsen, more dead than alive, was picked up by fishermen. He has sold his craft and taken employment on land, after many years of seafaring.

CONFESSED THE MURDER.

On Ling Sing, Who Chopped from San Francisco for Trial.

A detective returned from San Francisco at 1 o'clock this morning with On Ising Sing, who on the morning of February 25 murdered Wong Ung Wong at the Simons brickyards on Boyle avenue. The Chinaman has confessed his guilt, but will probably attempt to prove that he acted in self-defense.

tempt to prove that he acted in selfdefense.

After the murder he did not go near Chinatown, but walked all the way to San Francisco, the journey requiring sixteen days. When five days out of Los Angeles he earned 25 cents, and purchased a pair of shears, with which he cut off his queue.

Soon after his arrival in San Francisco he became known to other Chinese, members of the tong to which his victim belonged, and he says they prepared to kill him. He went to the Hall of Justice for the purpose of securing protection from them, and in the hallway was recognized by Detective Gibson and locked up. He admitted his identity and his guilt, but declared that Wong Urig Wong was in the act of attacking him with a knife when he struck the fatai blows with a hatchet, which he had concealed in his bed coverings. No knife was found in the room after the murder, and Sing says he did not take the knife away with him. His story of the murder is, therefore, not believed by the detectives.

Can Be Cured

Some people have had catarrh as long as they can remember—to cough, choke and constantly gurgle, and expectorate is a regular habit—sort of a second nature but vile and annoying.

Catarrh in the head is an inflammed condition of the mucuous membranes in the nasal passages often caused by a cold.

Now, unless this inflammation is drawn out the catarrhw. Il continue to do endless damage. It will rot the bones in the nose, cause deafness, injure the sight, cause a foul breath.

Indigestion will also follow for the stomach has work of its own with ut trying to digest the foul chunks of decayed matter that slide down the throat from the head while the sufferer is asleep.

Halpruner's Wonderful Medicine cures catarrh, drives the inflammation out of the body, purifies the blood, gives tone and vigor to the membranes and health to the whole system. It cools, allays and heals and you are well in a short time at very small cost—50c and $1 a bottle.

Go to your druggist and ask for Halpruner's and be sure that you get it—Halpruner Medical Manufacturing Co., 28 Cal-fornia St., San Francisco, Cal.
